Tuesday, 18th September 2012

Leaders of Learning in Scottish and Dutch Schools

Teachers engaging in professional learning share their research and perspectives

Kibble Suite, Hilton Glasgow Grosvenor Hotel, 1 – 9 Grosvenor Terrace, Glasgow, G12 0TA

There is limited free parking near the hotel. Parking is also available in the Waitrose multi-storey car park next to hotel.

Around forty Dutch and Scottish educators will come together to find out about one another’s approaches to Masters and other professional learning. Several teachers from each country will share aspects of their study and work. There will be identification of, and discussion around, common issues faced by teachers who aim to enhance their professionalism and improve outcomes for young people through engaging in academic study and research.

1.30 – 1.55pm  Registration and tea/coffee

2.00 – 2.05pm  Introduction by David Cameron, education consultant at The Real David Cameron Ltd

2.10 – 2.30pm  Overview of Chartered Teacher in Scotland by David Noble, Chair of the Association of Chartered Teachers Scotland (ACTS)

2.35 – 2.55pm  Overview of Masters professional learning in Holland

3.00 – 3.25pm  Short presentations of teachers’ research, delivered to groups

3.30 – 3.50pm  Group conversations on ‘wicked issues’ around research, followed by plenary

3.55 – 4.25pm  Consideration of future Masters-level professional learning and the “Role and enhanced contribution of Chartered Teachers”

4.30pm  Summary by David Cameron

Optional

5.30 for 6pm  Complimentary dinner at the Hilton Glasgow Grosvenor.

Please contact actscotland@yahoo.com if you have any queries about this event.